Programme information and content

The BA Art & English Literature is a unique four-year programme that brings together creative practice in art and English literature with academic knowledge, helping you to become a skilful, informed, and thoughtful creator. Your learning on this programme supports sustained experimentation and creative enquiry in large credit practical studio modules alongside complementary studies to introduce, develop and master skills and knowledge of art and literature.

Your programme affords sustained time, focus and resources to develop meaningful expertise in both subjects. Your learning on this programme supports experimentation and creative enquiry in large credit practical studio modules alongside complementary studies to introduce, develop and master skills and knowledge of art. You will have opportunities in each year of your degree to explore the historical range of literature written in English, from the Middle Ages to the present.

In Art the programme aims to provide you with the tools to develop, make and present art. It fosters investigative, critically reflective and independent learning through the study, discussion and practice of contemporary art. You will be guided by the diversity of staff expertise in intellectual and technical production of art to find your own forms and expressions, and to help you to become a skilled and confident creative practitioner. In English Literature you will study some texts in familiar formats, and some in new and less well-known genres. You will sharpen your expertise in close reading and interpretation, mastering appropriate methods for critical analysis. You will develop your own writing skills in regular assessment exercises, and through reflection on constructive feedback.

Your BA Art & English Literature plays a vital role in connecting how people understand and shape the world globally, and so sustainability, accessibility and social engagement are thoroughly embedded into your studies. You will explore how creative practitioners respond to and shape our rapidly changing world and develop your ability to make creatively ambitious work.

As a graduate of the BA Art & English Literature you will be equipped to sustain a practice as an artist, writer or curator, to find employment within the creative industries or to continue to postgraduate study. You will have acquired skills in close reading of texts and artworks, critical analysis, and experimental writing. You will be practiced at articulating ideas creatively and persuasively. These skills will allow you to engage with confidence in professional and public discourse. In your personal and working life they will enable you to look beyond immediate tasks and problems to wider social, cultural, civic, and global contexts.

Part 1: Art introduces you to a range of art making approaches and current discourses through a series of practical projects in different media, including Health & Safety training.

In English Literature you will survey the major literary forms (poetry, prose fiction and drama).

Part 2

Art provides you with the opportunity to develop your own art project in the studio guided by a series of individual skills training and the opportunity to gain more in-depth knowledge and understanding of art historical issues.

In English Literature your investigations of literary themes, theories and historical periods will have a more comprehensive focus, and involve more detailed enquiry.

Part 2: Part 2i

Art provides you with the opportunity to build on the intellectual and technical skills through increasingly independent art practice and its relation to art history and theory.

In English Literature you will pursue specialized and independent study that reflects your own interests, choosing from a wide range of modules built around the research of our staff. You will join the larger debates that shape our subject. In all your modules, you will be supported to find the most appropriate theoretical perspectives for the texts you study.

Part 3: Art facilitates your mastery of a sustained and focused studio practice with an emphasis on independent research, critical reflection, production and presentation skills. In English Literature you will consolidate your skills in research, planning and writing in the dissertation module.

Teaching and learning delivery:

You will experience a range of approaches to teaching which are tailored to the learning outcomes of the subjects you will study and the overall objectives of the joint programme.

Student-centered learning in Art is situated within the art studio, your shared learning space, where you study amongst students from your programme; this core learning environment is informed by group work, collaboration and peer exchange, fostering inclusive and diverse debate.

Your learning experience will involve a mix of lectures, asynchronous recorded content and small-group seminar discussion. In Art, your learning will be initially guided through set practical projects, group and one-to-one feedback and weekly seminars. You will have the opportunity to be inducted in workshop facilities, technical and Health & Safety training. In addition, there are directed study visits to museums and galleries. You will begin your learning in English with some familiar concepts (we will look at poetry, prose fiction and drama), but we will consider ways of reading and interpretation of texts that may be new to you. You will also build your writing skills, for academic, and non-academic purposes, in the year-long Writing module. This will include opportunities to work with Creative Writing.

In Part 2 and 2i your learning will be increasingly self-directed, supported by further training in skills and the deepening of your expertise through exhibiting your artwork, the visiting artist lectures and optional study visits. In English there is a greater emphasis on small-group discussion with material provided to help you familiarise yourself with the cultural and historical context of our set texts. In this part you have increased optionality to support your own individual study path, your interests and strengths to allow you to bridge the two subjects.

In Part 3 in Art you extend your learning towards mastering your skills and knowledge in a final exhibition. Alongside this you will develop a larger piece of self-directed research in the English dissertation module.

Throughout the programme, you will receive academic guidance through verbal and written feedback in scheduled meetings with your Academic Tutor.

Elements of your programme will be delivered via digital technology.

For the BA Art and English Literature there are dedicated resources available online via our virtual learning environment, Blackboard, including video channels of recorded artist lectures.

The scheduled teaching and learning activity hours and amount of technology enhanced learning activity for your programme will depend upon your module combination. In addition, you will undertake some self-scheduled teaching and learning activities, designed by and/or involving staff, which give some flexibility for you to choose when to complete them. You will also be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module study hours including contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.

Assessment

In Art assessments are authentic to support learning through diverse and inclusive strategies, to provide real world professional practice and to prepare you for the workplace.

Summative assessment points are all 100% coursework as a combination different assessment methods.

Practical modules support accumulative learning documented through portfolios of practice, combined with written reflective elements, and in larger credit modules, an end-of year group exhibition of your artwork. Our studio assessment methods provide inclusive and diverse combinations that enable students to demonstrate their skills and knowledge relevant to their individual creative practice and strengths, and are supported through detailed assessment handbooks.

Academic research, writing and presentation skills are captured alongside knowledge acquisition through journals, essays, and reflective reports, culminating in written dissertations.

Formative assessment as linked feedback and feedforward in large-credit practical modules consists of a series of exhibitions and a mid-module rehearsal of the summative assessment.

In English you will be formatively assessed through peer group and seminar leader feedback (including tasks for which you will receive written feedback), and summatively assessed through essays and the dissertation.

Formative assessments include a range of methods to build assessment literacy and competency, including assessment scheduling and briefings, self-assessment based on rubrics, peer-review, presentations, planning and drafting of written work, and revision of samples of previous good practice.

Both summative and formative assessment volume and timing are distributed evenly across semesters and shared from the beginning of the academic year.

Timely feedback and feedforward is both written and verbal:

In practical modules it is ongoing and continuous through one-to-one and small group tutorials; every learning activity includes an embedded feedforward element.

In 20 credit modules feedback is attached to formative assignments and feedforward tutorials support planning towards summative assessment.

Academic Tutorials scheduled across the year help you acknowledge, consolidate and act on formative and summative feedback.

Further information is contained in the individual module descriptions.

Additional costs of the programme

The Department of Art houses its own art supplies shop that provides a range of materials at subsidised prices. Equipment and software for video and digital media practices are all available to hire at no cost through our student media resource. Due to the individual nature of studio practice, the cost of materials throughout your programme will vary depending on your choice of media. At Part 1 most materials are provided by the department except where students wish to use specialist or unusual materials of their choice. In subsequent years we would suggest an approximate budget of £200 per year to cover basics. For the final year exhibition, you may wish to invest more in materials. This is not a necessary requirement and advice should be sought from the module convenor. However, a reasonable budgetary expectation would be an additional £200. In addition, it is recommended that you budget approximately £100 per year for optional exhibition and museum trips.

Costs are indicative and may vary according to optional modules chosen and are subject to inflation and other price fluctuations. Estimates were calculated in 2024.

For further information about your Programme please refer to the Programme Handbook and the relevant module descriptions, which are available at <http://www.reading.ac.uk/module/>.
