Programme information and content

History at the University of Reading will provide you with a deep understanding of the world and its transformation over time. Research-led teaching introduces students to historians of international standing and access to cutting-edge scholarship: you will meet the people who write the books. A range of options is available, running from the medieval to the modern period and traversing the globe through Africa, America, Asia, Europe and the Middle East. You can explore a variety of historical approaches, including but not exclusive to cultural, economic, political, religious and social history, developing in the process a knowledge of textual analysis, theory and methodology. The degree engages with questions of class, race, gender, sexuality, theology, ideology and power, interrogating various perspectives to enable students to navigate differences of opinion and perspective.

As your degree progresses, you will move from learning history to writing history, intervening in historical debate whilst also gaining such transferable skills as:

- critical thinking;
- information collation and evaluation;
- developing sustained arguments and analysis based on evidence;
- collaborative work and presentation;
- public speaking;
- oral and written communication;
- problem solving;
- time management;
- assuming individual responsibility.

The department anticipates students will be intellectually curious and engaged. In return, we'll empower you to realise your intellectual ambitions and gain the necessary experience to follow the career or life path of your choosing.

Part 1:	For their first year, students experience a range of historical topics and develop such core skills as evaluating primary sources and communicating sustained arguments underpinned by referenced research. Compulsory modules are designed to provide students with the broad historical knowledge necessary to develop their studies into the second year. Optional modules allow students to experiment with and explore their historical curiosity.
Part 2:	At Part two, second year students refine their interests through a further choice of optional courses. These introduce students to ongoing historiographical debates and enables them to intervene in questions of historical pertinence. The Going Public module gives students the experience of working with external partners, thereby gaining skills in group work and communicating ideas about the past to different forms of audience. HS2PFD Preparing for your Dissertation lays the methodological and theoretical groundwork for individual dissertation projects undertaken in the final year.
Placement/Study abroad year:	Study abroad helps broaden student horizons, enabling them to gain valuable experience and enhance employment prospects through streamlined Study Abroad opportunities. Students may spend two weeks, a term or an academic year abroad. This can be part of a standard three-year degree, an extended four-year degree, or a shorter length of time such as a summer school. Alternatively, students may choose to undertake a Work Experience Year between their second and third years, building on the skills acquired in their first two years of study while further developing a wide range of intrapersonal, interpersonal, problem-solving and team-working skills to enhance their Part 3 performance and graduate employment prospects.
Part 3:	In year three, students enjoy greater specialisation, completing the transition from History student to historian. The dissertation allows students to devise and undertake an extended research project of their choosing that brings to fruition the archival, writing, referencing and analytical skills developed previously. Optional special subjects enable students to create their own interpretations of historical material and delve deeply into key areas of history with specialist tutors across two semesters. Complementary optional modules continue to widen student horizons through focused and source-based analysis of a particular period or theme. In addition, placement modules allow students to experience pathways to future careers and employment.

Programme Learning Outcomes - BA History

During the course of the Programme, you will have the opportunity to develop a range of skills, knowledge and attributes (known as learning outcomes) For this programme, these are:

Learning outcomes
1	Gain extensive subject knowledge across a wide range of historical subjects and themes.
2	Become capable of contextualising historical knowledge and responding to ongoing global affairs from an informed historical perspective.
3	Develop the capacity to devise and pursue cogent and focused research questions.
4	Assemble the analytical tools to develop critical and empathetic interpretations of material, with an appreciation of genre, perspective, content and purpose.
5	Extend your intellectual curiosity and become open to varied scholarly approaches and unfamiliar topics.
6	Gain an understanding of where to locate and access information, evaluating sources and thereby recognise that not all statements of information or arguments/opinions are of equal validity.
7	Learn to construct evidence-based and logically structured arguments through an understanding of various theories and methodologies.
8	Benefit from work experience and career development opportunities in the numerous professions relevant to a History degree.
9	Develop written and oral communication skills in different styles and formats.
10	Become capable of creating and communicating digital content in various formats (video/audio, visual, textual) and for different audiences.
11	Learn to interpret and respond to feedback, identifying objectives and means for improvement.
12	Work independently and collaboratively.

You will be expected to engage in learning activities to achieve these Programme learning outcomes. Assessment of your modules will reflect these learning outcomes and test how far you have met the requirements for your degree.

To pass the Programme, you will be required to meet the progression or accreditation and award criteria set out below.

In addition to the learning outcomes stated above if you are on a placement or study abroad programme you will have the opportunity to develop the following learning outcome:

Additional Learning outcomes

Study Abroad

By the end of the Study Abroad Programme, students will have adapted to international study contexts in order to achieve the required academic outcomes determined by the host institution.

Placement

By the end of the Placement Year Programme, students will have explored and developed their professional experience, skills and knowledge, contributing significantly towards their continuous learning and career prospects as graduates.

Module information

Each part comprises 120 credits, allocated across a range of compulsory and optional modules as shown below. Compulsory modules are listed.

Part 1 Modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
HS1EE	Exploring Evidence	20	4
HS1HN	History Now	20	4
HS1MH	Making History and You: Practices and Possibilities	20	4
HS1PIH	Perspectives in History	20	4

In addition to compulsory modules, a selection of Option modules will be offered in the spring term. All modules are 20 credits. Students will take two optional modules.

Students may replace 20 credits of optional modules with modules from an approved list.

Please note: the various History Options will be selected from an evolving range of modules reflecting the research interests of the department and the availability of staff in relation to workload, research priorities, contracted hours and various forms of leave.

Part 2 Modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
HS2GPP	Going Public: Presenting the Past, Planning the Future	20	5
HS2PFD	Preparing for your Dissertation	20	5

All modules are 20 credits. Students must select four Option modules from across the baskets.

Students may replace 20 credits of optional modules with modules from an approved list.

Please note: the various History Options will be selected from an evolving range of modules reflecting the research interests of the department and the availability of staff in relation to workload, research priorities, contracted hours and various forms of leave.

Modules during a placement year or study year (if applicable):

Students on one of the four-year programmes will take one 120 credit module in either Work Experience Year (HS2WEY) or Study Abroad Year (HS2SAY).

Students may be permitted to undertake a placement year or a study abroad year between Part 2 and Part 3 of the programme. In such cases students will transfer to a 4-year programme. The placement or study abroad year should not normally be shorter than nine months full-time.

If you take a year-long placement or study abroad, Part 3 as described below may be subject to variation.

Part 3 Modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
HS3HLD	Dissertation in History	40	6

In addition to the Dissertation, students take one 40-credit Special Subject module and two 20-credit option modules from selections provided by the department.

Students may replace 20 credits of optional modules with modules from an approved list.

Please note: the various History options will be selected from an evolving range of modules reflecting the research interests of the department and the availability of staff in relation to workload, research priorities, contracted hours and various forms of leave.

Placement opportunities

Placements:

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a credit-bearing placement as part of your Programme. This will form all or part of an optional module. You will be required to find and secure a placement opportunity, with the support of the University.

Study Abroad:

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a Study Abroad placement during your Programme. This is subject to you meeting academic conditions detailed in the Programme Handbook, including obtaining the relevant permissions from your School, and the availability of a suitable Study Abroad placement. If you undertake a Study Abroad placement, further arrangements will be discussed and agreed with you.

Optional modules:

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your programme can be found online in the Course Catalogue. Details of optional modules for each part, including any additional costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the Part in which they are to be taken and you will be given an opportunity to express interest in the optional modules that you would like to take. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability and may be subject to pre-requisites, such as completion of another module. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Teaching and learning delivery:

Our teaching and learning strategies revolve around enabling academic success through a variety of assessments. In terms of teaching, lectures are delivered to offer contextual and informative content, providing students with a basic understanding of core subjects and approaches. Seminars enable deeper discussion, allowing students in groups and individually to explore and debate questions relevant to their module. Supervisions are then held to guide students (both individually and in groups), explaining the feedback provided on work submitted and advising on assessments.

History encourages independent study: we expect students to become historians, moving on from simply learning in the classroom towards gaining their own critical voices and developing their own evidence-based interpretations. At all stages, digital resources are provided to allow access to relevant materials, while digitally enhanced learning techniques (vlogs, screencasts, discussion boards etc.) are embedded into the department's practice. Learning visits and placements are arranged to encourage students to enhance their experience beyond the classroom.

Such an approach provides students with the toolset to research and communicate evidence-based analysis, while also allowing flexibility and variety in the delivery of learning and assessment. Our degree enables inclusivity, encouraging students to collaborate and develop their own research interests and approaches. Small group seminar teaching and close supervision are integral to this, wherein staff adapt their teaching to suit group dynamics and the individual needs of students. Assessments, in the form of essays but also preliminary plans, textual analysis (gobbets), oral presentations, vlogs, reflective reports, portfolios, quizzes and creative tasks such as counterfactual writing and documentary plans, are designed to measure an array of talents and demonstrate the transferrable and sustainable skills inherent to the study of History.

Elements of your programme will be delivered via digital technology.

The scheduled teaching and learning activity hours and amount of technology enhanced learning activity for your programme will depend upon your module combination. In addition, you will undertake some self-scheduled teaching and learning activities, designed by and/or involving staff, which give some flexibility for you to choose when to complete them. You will also be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module study hours including contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.

Assessment

The programme will be assessed through a combination of written examinations, coursework (including class tests) and oral examinations. Further information is contained in the individual module descriptions and include: group work, source analysis, portfolios and creative assessments (maps, fanzines, vlogs etc). Our assessment is designed to introduce (I) students to History-related skills and understanding. These are then demonstrated (D), ensuring that students master (M) their application in preparation for a career beyond (and sometimes inside) academia. Detailed and constructive feedback will be provided on submitted work and offered to students individually.

Progression

Part 1

To achieve a threshold performance at Part 1, a student will normally be required to:

- (i) Obtain an overall average of 40% over 120 credits taken in Part 1;
- (ii) Obtain a mark of at least 40% in individual modules amounting to not less than 80 credits taken in Part 1; and
- (iii) Obtain marks of at least 30% in modules amounting to 120 credits.

In order to progress from Part 1 to Part 2, a student must achieve a threshold performance;

The achievement of a threshold performance at Part 1 qualifies a student for a Certificate of Higher Education if they leave the University before completing the subsequent Part.

Transferring from a Joint Honours to a Single Honours programme

Students are able to transfer from a Joint Honours to a Single Honours programme in one of their joint subject areas at the end of Part 1, subject to fulfilling the Part 1 University Threshold Standard, achieving marks of at least 40% in at least 40 credits of modules in the subject to which they wish to transfer, and fulfilling any programme-specific progression rules for the Part 1 Single Honours Programme to which they wish to transfer.

Students who transfer from a Joint Honours to a Single Honours programme may not have taken all of the Part 1 modules listed in the Single Honours Programme Specification. The modules which they have taken will be shown on their Diploma Supplement.

Part 2

To achieve a threshold performance at Part 2, a student shall normally be required to:

- (i) Obtain a weighted average of 40% over 120 credits taken in Part 2; and
- (ii) Obtain marks of at least 40% in individual modules amounting to at least 80 credits taken in Part 2; and
- (iii) Obtain marks of at least 30% in individual modules amounting to at least 120 credits, except that a mark below 30% may be condoned in no more than 20 credits of modules owned by the Department of Mathematics and Statistics.

In order to progress from Part 2 to Part 3, a student must achieve a threshold performance;

The achievement of a threshold performance at Part 2 qualifies a student for a Diploma of Higher Education if they leave the University before completing the subsequent Part.

Professional/placement year

Students are required to pass the professional placement year/study abroad year in order to progress on the programme which incorporates the professional placement year/study abroad year. Students who fail the professional placement year/study abroad year transfer to the non-placement year version of the programme.

Classification

Bachelors' degrees

The University's honours classification scheme is based on the following:

Mark Interpretation

70% - 100% First class

60% - 69% Upper Second class

50% - 59% Lower Second class

40% - 49% Third class

35% - 39% Below Honours Standard

0% - 34% Fail

The weighting of the Parts/Years in the calculation of the degree classification is:

Three year programmes:

Part 2: one-third

Part 3: two-thirds

Four year programmes, including placement/study abroad:

Part 2: one-third

Placement/Study abroad: not included in the classification

Part 3: two-thirds

The classification method is given in detail in Section 17 of the Assessment Handbook.

Additional costs of the programme

Students may choose to buy text-books and key texts for the various modules. Access to fieldtrips and placements may also require further costs.

Costs are indicative and may vary according to optional modules chosen and are subject to inflation and other price fluctuations. Estimates were calculated in 2024.
