Programme information and content

This programme aims to provide you with a comprehensive degree-level education in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics.

In Philosophy, the programme encourages you to confront your deepest beliefs and assumptions in a characteristically philosophical way, to enhance your global engagement and multi-cultural awareness. You will learn the basic rudiments of philosophical argument and about different conceptions of social and civic responsibility. Your studies will inform you about current debates in philosophy, helping you to develop a sense of the significance of philosophical thinking in dealing with modern problems, and to appreciate multiple perspectives and the values of diversity. You will cultivate your skills in oral and written argument and learn to compare and contrast very different ways of doing philosophy. The programme of study is specifically designed to introduce you to progressive intellectual challenges and to consolidate your previous experience at each new level.

The Politics programme will provide you with the tools to understand and assess how political processes shape our lives. You will study the dynamics of political decision-making, and explore how the global context influences national politics. Throughout the programme you will connect the academic study of politics to contemporary issues, such as climate change and populism. You will learn to think critically and independently about a wide range of political ideas, institutions, and events: from debates about equality and social justice, to referendums and nuclear weapons.

Interactive small group teaching is central to the programme. Through discussion and debate, you will deepen your understanding of the political world and gain an appreciation of the complex and contested nature of political problems. As you move through the programme you will become an increasingly independent learner, acquiring the tools you need to analyse how societies are and should be governed.

The Economics programme will give you an understanding of key economic principles and tools of analysis, encourage you to develop an awareness of policy issues. It does not involve as high a level of compulsory mathematics as some Economics programmes.

The programme will equip you with a broad set of transferable skills. You will learn to interpret data and evidence from diverse sources, develop persuasive arguments, and communicate them effectively. The knowledge and skills you gain will prepare you for careers within the commercial and charitable sectors, as well as roles in government and the civil service.

Part 1:	In Philosophy, Part 1 introduces you to the core topics of philosophy and to the basic concepts and methods of critical thinking, basic logic, and the psychology of reasoning. There is a particular emphasis on developing oral and written skills through small group discussion. You will undertake research to produce coursework essays and to learn how to critically appraise what you discover. In Politics at Part 1, you will study central issues and concepts in political theory. You will also investigate the politics of climate change, drawing on perspectives from comparative government, political theory and international relations. In Economics, Part 1 introduces you to the basic underpinnings of modern macroeconomics and microeconomics, and supplements this with an introduction to mathematics as used in economics.
Part 2:	In Philosophy, Part 2 provides you with a deeper awareness of current philosophers, of the skills of argument and presentation, and of the epistemology and methodology of Philosophy. There is a greater emphasis on developing skills of research and enquiry and to presenting arguments in public meetings in an effective way, anticipating and responding to questions, and using a range of means (speaking, summary-writing, essay-writing, presenting, designing slides). In Politics at Part 2, you will build on the foundations established at Part 1, extending your knowledge within government or political theory. Bipartite students will also receive skills-based training to enable you to evaluate existing research in politics, and to conduct original research. In Economics, Part 2 enhances your knowledge of microeconomics and macroeconomics to intermediate level.
Placement/Study abroad year:	If you are enrolled on a four-year programme, you will undertake a professional placement or study abroad year between Parts 2 and 3.

	If you choose to study abroad, you will follow several courses at one of our partner institutions. You may take courses that deepen your understanding of subjects you have already studied or extend your knowledge into new areas that are relevant to your personal or career goals. If you choose a professional placement year, you will undertake an approved role related to your programme of study. A placement will provide you with the opportunity to apply the knowledge gained in your first two years of study, as well as develop your skills in a professional context.
Part 3:	In Philosophy, Part 3 gives you the opportunity to develop full mastery of the discipline of Philosophy across a broad range of different conceptions of what counts as ‘Philosophy’. The emphasis is on developing independent learning, personal effectiveness and self-awareness as well as the ability to reflect effectively on your progress and strengths, and on the goals you wish to achieve. In Politics at Part 3, you will tailor the degree to your own interests: choosing from a wide range of research-led modules that reflect the expertise of our members of staff. You will also have the opportunity to complete an independent research project, working under the guidance of a dedicated individual supervisor. In Economics, Part 3 gives you the opportunity to deepen your knowledge of economics in areas which interest you through optional modules. This includes the opportunity to do a dissertation in economics.

Programme Learning Outcomes - BA Philosophy, Politics and Economics

During the course of the Programme, you will have the opportunity to develop a range of skills, knowledge and attributes (known as learning outcomes) For this programme, these are:

	Learning outcomes
1	Critically read, comprehend and evaluate a range of philosophical texts.
2	Explain and evaluate ideas, theories, schools of thought and arguments of the key philosophers and major fields of philosophy.
3	Explain and evaluate various approaches to philosophy across a range of different philosophical traditions.
4	Apply philosophical, political, and economic principles to contemporary issues and real-world situations.
5	Construct and communicate complex, rational and persuasive arguments in a philosophical way for a variety of purposes and audiences.
6	Describe, compare and analyse political systems within different countries.

7	Think critically and independently about political events, ideas, and institutions, and identify potential solutions to questions of public and policy concern.
8	Understand and apply qualitative and quantitative data relating to political phenomena.
9	Critically understand the fundamental concepts and tools of microeconomics and macroeconomics.
10	Gather and synthesize complex information from a wide range of primary and secondary data sources.
11	Effectively communicate their knowledge in a logical way to a range of audiences, both specialist and non-specialist, and in a variety of formats, including in writing and orally.
12	Apply the most frequently used mathematical techniques in economics, and apply analytical principles to a range of problems.

You will be expected to engage in learning activities to achieve these Programme learning outcomes. Assessment of your modules will reflect these learning outcomes and test how far you have met the requirements for your degree.

To pass the Programme, you will be required to meet the progression or accreditation and award criteria set out below.

In addition to the learning outcomes stated above if you are on a placement or study abroad programme you will have the opportunity to develop the following learning outcome:

Additional Learning outcomes
Study Abroad
By the end of the Study Abroad Programme, students will have adapted to international study contexts in order to achieve the required academic outcomes determined by the host institution.
Placement
By the end of the Placement Year Programme, students will have explored and developed their professional experience, skills and knowledge, contributing significantly towards their continuous learning and career prospects as graduates.

Module information
Each part comprises 120 credits, allocated across a range of compulsory and optional modules as shown below. Compulsory modules are listed.
Part 1 Modules:
Module	Name	Credits	Level
EC140	Principles of Economics 1	20	4
EC141	Principles of Economics 2	20	4
PO1IPI	Introduction to Political Ideas	20	4

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PO2SOP	The Study of Politics	20	5

Of the remaining credits, 40 credits can be taken from optional modules available in the Department of Politics and International Relations, and 60 credits can be taken from optional modules available in the Department of Philosophy. Students must take at least one of Political Classics (PO2PHC) or Comparative Government and Politics (PO2CGP).

Modules during a placement year or study year (if applicable):

Students enrolled on a 4-year programme will take one 120 credit module in either Study Abroad or Professional Placement Year.

Students may be permitted to undertake a placement year or a study abroad year between Part 2 and Part 3 of the programme. In such cases students will transfer to a 4-year programme. The placement or study abroad year should not normally be shorter than nine months full-time.

If you take a year-long placement or study abroad, Part 3 as described below may be subject to variation.

Part 3 Modules:

Module selection at Part 3 will be determined by the pathway followed.

Tripartite pathway (Philosophy, Politics, and Economics)

Students can take one of the following Dissertation modules.

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PP3DIS	Dissertation in Philosophy	40	6
PO3DIP	Dissertation in Politics and International Relations	40	6
EC3DSI	Dissertation (for Joint degrees)	40	6

If students take a Dissertation module listed above, the remaining credits must be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Philosophy, Department of Politics and International Relations, and the Department of Economics. Credits must be balanced across the three subjects.

Students on the tripartite pathway have the option of taking one of the modules below instead of a Dissertation.

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PP3ILM	Independent Learning Module	20	6
EC3DIS	Dissertation	20	6

If students take one of the Dissertation alternatives listed above, the remaining credits must be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Philosophy, Department of Politics and International Relations, and the Department of Economics. Credits must be balanced across the three subjects.

Bipartite pathway (Politics and Economics)

Students can take one of the following Dissertation modules.

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PO3DIP	Dissertation in Politics and International Relations	40	6
EC3DSI	Dissertation (for Joint degrees)	40	6

If students take a Dissertation module listed above, the remaining credits must be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Politics and International Relations and the Department of Economics. Credits must be balanced across the two subjects.

Students on this Bipartite pathway also have the option of taking the module below instead of a Dissertation.

Module	Name	Credits	Level
EC3DIS	Dissertation	20	6

If students take the Dissertation alternative listed above, the remaining credits must be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Politics and International Relations and the Department of Economics. Credits must be balanced across the three subjects.

Bipartite pathway (Philosophy and Economics)

Students can take one of the following Dissertation modules.

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PP3DIS	Dissertation in Philosophy	40	6
EC3DSI	Dissertation (for Joint degrees)	40	6

If students take a Dissertation module listed above, the remaining credits must be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Philosophy and the Department of Economics. Credits must be balanced across the two subjects.

Students on this Bipartite pathway have the option of taking one of the modules below instead of a Dissertation.

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PP3ILM	Independent Learning Module	20	6
EC3DIS	Dissertation	20	6

If students take one of the Dissertation alternatives listed above, the remaining credits must be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Philosophy and the Department of Economics. Credits must be balanced across the three subjects.

Bipartite pathway (Philosophy and Politics)

Students can take one of the following Dissertation modules.

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PP3DIS	Dissertation in Philosophy	40	6
PO3DIP	Dissertation in Politics and International Relations	40	6

If students take a Dissertation module listed above, the remaining credits must be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Philosophy and Department of Politics and International Relations. Credits must be balanced across the two subjects.

Students on this Bipartite pathway have the option of taking the module below instead of a Dissertation.

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PP3ILM	Independent Learning Module	20	6

If students take the Dissertation alternative listed above, the remaining credits must be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Philosophy and the Department of Politics and International Relations. Credits must be balanced across the two subjects.

Students may exceptionally be permitted to change pathway when entering Part 3, at the discretion of the programme director and programme advisor from the specific subject area.

Placement opportunities

Placements:

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a credit-bearing placement as part of your Programme. This will form all or part of an optional module. You will be required to find and secure a placement opportunity, with the support of the University.

Study Abroad:

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a Study Abroad placement during your Programme. This is subject to you meeting academic conditions detailed in the Programme Handbook, including obtaining the relevant permissions from your School, and the availability of a suitable Study Abroad placement. If you undertake a Study Abroad placement, further arrangements will be discussed and agreed with you.

Optional modules:

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your programme can be found online in the Course Catalogue. Details of optional modules for each part, including any additional costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the Part in which they are to be taken and you will be given an opportunity to express interest in the optional modules that you would like to take. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability and may be subject to pre-requisites, such as completion of another module. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Teaching and learning delivery:

In Philosophy and Economics, you will be taught primarily through a mixture of lectures and seminars, depending on the modules you choose. Some modules may include group work, including marked presentations. Further information on the delivery of module content is contained in the individual module descriptions.

In Politics, you will be taught primarily through a combination of lectures and seminars. Small-group teaching is central to each stage of the programme, and all modules will include some seminar sessions in which you develop your knowledge through discussion and group exercises. At Part 1, this small-group teaching is supported by larger lectures. Lectures will introduce you to a topic and provide a framework to enable you to engage successfully with seminar activities. At Parts 2 and 3, there is less reliance on large lectures, with modules typically including more and longer seminars. Students are also introduced to other forms of teaching such as PC labs, simulation exercises and practical activities.

Elements of your programme will be delivered via digital technology.

The scheduled teaching and learning activity hours and amount of technology enhanced learning activity for your programme will depend upon your module combination. In addition, you will undertake some self-scheduled teaching and learning activities, designed by and/or involving staff, which give some flexibility for you to choose when to complete them. You will also be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module study hours including contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.

Accreditation details

N/A

Assessment

The Philosophy programme will be assessed through a variety of means, including written coursework, class tests, and oral examinations.

In Politics, you will be assessed through a combination of written examinations, coursework (including class tests) and presentations. Assessments are designed to develop your transferable skills, as well as to test your subject knowledge. Further information is contained in the individual module descriptions.

In Economics, you will be assessed through a combination of written examinations, coursework (including class tests) and presentations.

Progression

Part 1

To achieve a threshold performance at Part 1, a student will normally be required to:

- (i) Obtain an overall average of 40% over 120 credits taken in Part 1;
- (ii) Obtain a mark of at least 40% in individual modules amounting to not less than 80 credits taken in Part 1; and
- (iii) Obtain marks of at least 30% in modules amounting to 120 credits.

In order to progress from Part 1 to Part 2, a student must achieve a threshold performance;

The achievement of a threshold performance at Part 1 qualifies a student for a Certificate of Higher Education if they leave the University before completing the subsequent Part.

Students on Joint Honours programmes who achieve the University threshold standard for progression at Part 1 may transfer to a Single Honours degree in one of their joint subject areas if they have achieved at least 40% in 40 or more credits (i.e. 2 x 20 credit modules) of modules in the programme they wish to transfer. In addition, students must also have met any programme specific requirements on the Single Honours programme to which they may wish to transfer. Students should seek advice about the titles of programmes they may be eligible to transfer to.

Part 2

To achieve a threshold performance at Part 2, a student shall normally be required to:

- (i) Obtain a weighted average of 40% over 120 credits taken in Part 2; and
- (ii) Obtain marks of at least 40% in individual modules amounting to at least 80 credits taken in Part 2; and
- (iii) Obtain marks of at least 30% in individual modules amounting to at least 120 credits, except that a mark below 30% may be condoned in no more than 20 credits of modules owned by the Department of Mathematics and Statistics.

In order to progress from Part 2 to Part 3, a student must achieve a threshold performance;

The achievement of a threshold performance at Part 2 qualifies a student for a Diploma of Higher Education if they leave the University before completing the subsequent Part.

Professional/placement year

Students are required to pass the professional placement year/study abroad year in order to progress on the programme which incorporates the professional placement year/study abroad year. Students who fail the professional placement year/study abroad year transfer to the non-placement year version of the programme.

Classification

Bachelors' degrees

The University's honours classification scheme is based on the following:

Mark Interpretation

70% - 100% First class

60% - 69% Upper Second class

50% - 59% Lower Second class

40% - 49% Third class

35% - 39% Below Honours Standard

0% - 34% Fail

The weighting of the Parts/Years in the calculation of the degree classification is:

Three year programmes:

Part 2: one-third

Part 3: two-thirds

Four year programmes, including study abroad/professional placement:

Part 2: one-third

Study abroad/Professional placement: not included in the classification

Part 3: two-thirds

The classification method is given in detail in Section 17 of the Assessment Handbook.

Additional costs of the programme

During your programme of study you may incur some additional costs.

In Philosophy, there are no textbooks which you must buy, and students are encouraged to discuss the purchase of textbooks or other resources with the module convenor before purchasing. A range of resources to support your curriculum, including textbooks and electronic resources, are available through the library and through the Departments of Philosophy, Politics and International Relations and Economics. Reading lists and module specific costs are listed on the individual module descriptions.

Costs are indicative and may vary according to optional modules chosen and are subject to inflation and other price fluctuations. Estimates were calculated in 2024.

For further information about your Programme please refer to the Programme Handbook and the relevant module descriptions, which are available at <http://www.reading.ac.uk/module/>. The Programme Handbook and the relevant module descriptions do not form part of your Terms and Conditions with the University of Reading.
